Lynch sixned the affidatit which was drawn up in his presence, but demanded that any identification of Strange and Davenport by him be stricken out of the document. He refused to idensity the men, claiming that he was not positive. It is positively known however, on account of an incident that occurred during the course of the convolvation that he is aware of the identity of the men and would recognize either if confronted by them. All efforts of the officers to elicit information from him as to the identity were futile and were met with cuming and evasive answers. It is believed, however, that he will finally confess to the compolitely of the men and give all the information in his possession to the officers.

An incident which occurred at the penitentiary yesterday while Lynch was making his sworn statement established beyond a doubt, it seems, that John Strange, the Colorado prisocer, is the tail man who was with Lynch in the Sheep Ranch hold-up. Attorney Wanl ss secured a picture of Strange, and yesterday King was allowed to look at it. Upon a piece of paper which he had he wrote the sentence, "Is this the tall man who was with you in the hold-up?" King handed the note and picture to Lynch, and the latter looked at it carefully. Without saying a word, and apparently not cognizant of the fact that his actions were being observed by another than King, wrote upon the note in reply, the single word, "Yes." This done, he handed the picture and note back to King, and wifn no word of comment went on with his statements about the

"It is our purpose to go directly to betyer and there see Mace and the Itrian consul. We expect to examine, Nace closely in regard to the confession which he claims to have gotten from Strange, and then we will go to Canon City and see Strange nimself and hold a consultation with the prison authorities there in regard to the case. We will then probably go to Buena Vista and see Davenport and try to learn just what he knows about the affair. We do not want to see an innocent man hanged, if he is innocent, and as there is seemingly good cause to think that he may not be innocent, we feel that the matter warrants a thorough investigation.

Van Cott Took Affidavit.

A coincidence in connection with Lynch's affidavit is that the notary public who took the affidavit of the prisoner that will save King from death was one of the attorneys who prosecuted King and Lynch and asked that the death penalty be pronounced upon them. Attorney Van Cott, it is stated, is the only one of the prosecuting officers who insisted that the death penalty should be passed upon King as well as Lynch.

ANOTHER SUSPECT IN JAIL.

Officers Say They Have Man Who Knows About the Hold-up.

It was learned last night from an of icial source that the man supposed to be the fourth man in the hold-up hancen located and will be safe in jail thorities refuse to give his name or tell where he is at present. They claim to have good evidence to the fact that he is one of the men wanted and they will take steps to get him here as soon as other matters more urgent at the present time can be disposed of.

It is also believed that there is another prisoner among those at the Canon City penitentiary who knows a great deal about the hold-up and the part alleged to have been played in it by Strange, and a movement is on foot to have him located by a unique method that is often employed in the Colcrado prison. This method is to place a detective, in the guice of a convict, among the prisoners and have place, the latter leaving here on the 8:20 train last night. Attorney Christensen, when seen just before leaving, said:
